Dear Parents and Carers,

You may have noticed that on the wall at the front of the school we have a cross with pebbles attached to it. Each pebble has been chosen by a child in our school. The pebbles reflect our family values and signify the importance that we put on each child being an individual within a small, supportive and empowering learning environment.

The cross also reflects our strong Christian values and ethos which we promote in all areas of our school. This powerful imagery shows the emphasis that we put on encouraging children to build and develop their sense of belonging, from the moment they start in Early Years to the day they leave in Year 6. When I discussed this with our current Year 6 children they all exhibited a strong sense of ownership and belonging when talking about their pebble.

We would be delighted if you could help your child find and choose a small pebble that can be attached to our cross and show that they part of our ASSR family.

Many thanks in advance for your efforts with this and we look forward to expanding this project as part of our distinct Christian ethos.

Kind regards

Mr Davison
Head of School
